OSSIAN, INDIANA
VOLUME I

Norwell South Campus

Norwell North Campus

GLORY CONTINUES ON

Our expanding and developing world has brought many changes into our lives. One such change has been the loss of our cherished high schools, Lancaster and Ossian. However, the glory of these schools has not been lost, but has evolved into a larger and better institute of education.

Although it was a difficult transition, our enthusiasm and spirit have been transferred to N.H.S. We have succeeded because we have seen the best of our former schools unite to form the foundation of this new institute.

Henceforth, we shall observe Norwell with its broader field of academics and athletics mold greater and better citizens for tomorrow. Throughout their lives these citizens shall proudly carry forth the banner of their alma mater, Norwell High!

Norwell's Production Of "Music Man"

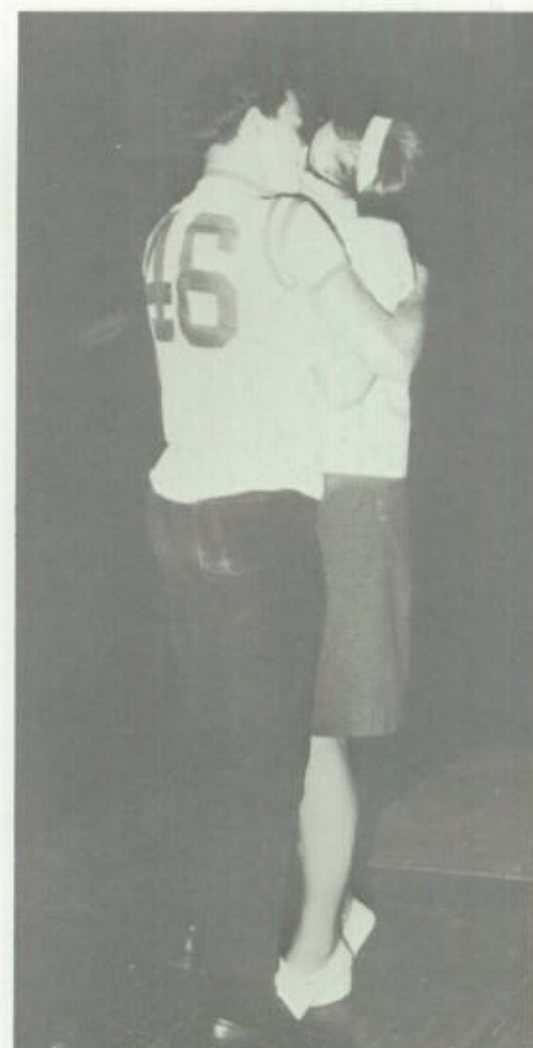

Look at the wierdos with the baggy pants!!

It's billiard—with an I!!—Dummies!

Hey, Beth, quit posing for the camera!

Gary Lesh enjoyed Act 2, Scene 4!

"Exciting!" "Spectacular!" "Bordering on professional!" These comments were heard as the audience of 1,677 left the Lancaster gym where a theater-in-the-round was the staging for Meredith Willson's ever-popular musical production, "Music Man", presented by the Norwell Music Department under the direction of Mr. Gary Link, assisted by Miss West and Miss Sellers, choral directors of each campus who were in charge of the costumes, chorus numbers, management, and advertising. "... tremendous high school performance!" was the reaction of Jerry Lobsiger, an authority on "Music Man". Ed Himann of the Decatur Music House said, "Best performance I've ever seen by a high school anywhere!"

Proclaimed Smashing Success By All

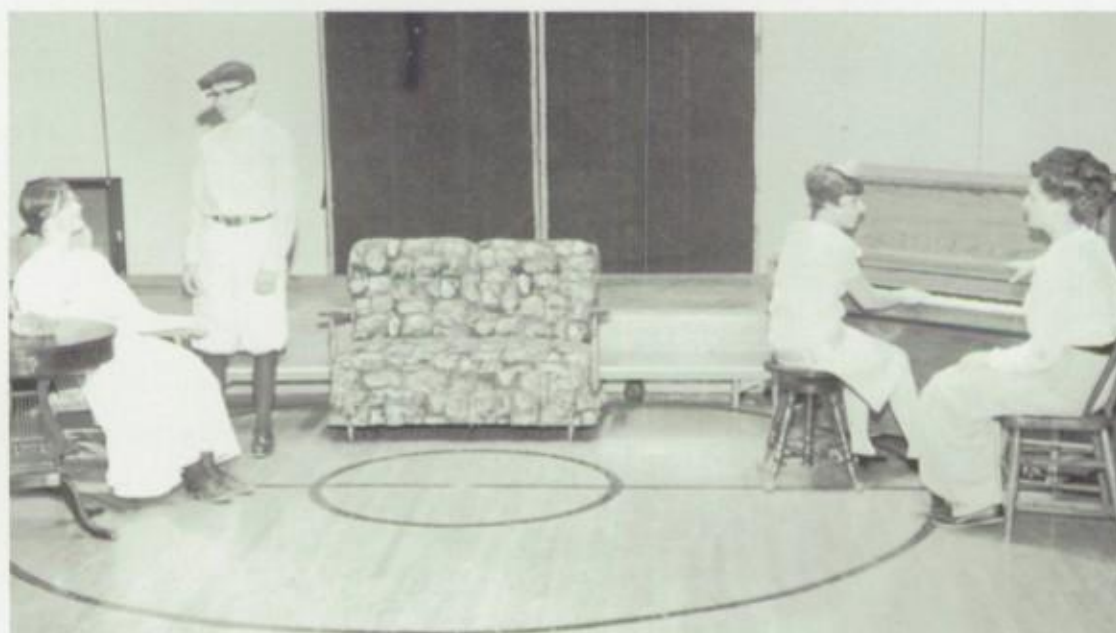

Romance has a violent start.

This was the year of the mini-shirts and the Four Seasons.

Once again this musical was a success as the characterization by the members of the cast portrayed the typical small town and Iowa stubbornness of 1912. The Music Man was Professor Harold Hill (Joey Gensic), a traveling salesman, who specialized in selling boys' band instruments.

This is Squire's Stables?

It isn't polite to point.

That Hill!!—He's nothing but a two-bit thimblerrigger! (You've got to believe me!)

Don't say a word to anyone!
What's this all about, Cathy?!

He entered River City, Iowa, expecting resistance from the music teacher, Marian Paroo (Georgia Brown), who was not as easily mesmerized as most of the town's people; however, Mayor Shinn (Mike Master-son) posed the greatest threat to uncovering his scheme. Harold wooed the elite matrons (Claudia Legge, Becky Shady, Becky Gerber, and Beth Grandlienard) led by the Mayor's wife, Eulalie Mackecknie Shinn (Sherryl Crismore). Also, he played cupid between Tommy Djilas (Duane Smith) and Zaneeta Shinn (Susy Hunter) and turned hatred to harmony among the school board (Greg Wickliffe, Larry Haggard, Steve Yager, and Greg Johnson).

Harold's scheme was progressing smoothly until Charlie Cowell (Gary Lesh), an anvil salesman, came to town and revealed Harold's plot to the people. Marcel-lus (Mike Murrell), Harold's friend, tried to make their escape good, but Harold had fallen in love with Marian and could not leave. The townspeople were ready to tar and feather Harold until Marian made them realize how Harold's visit had caused a change in their attitude.

Would you believe they're about to release a new hit record??!

Harold's promise of forming a boys' band seemed to be unfulfilled until the band unexpectedly paraded into the town meeting and began playing a somewhat distorted version of the Minuet in G. The lights dimmed as the music swelled and the townspeople gazed in disbelief at the amazing band.

The remaining cast included Gracie Shinn (Jean Hunter), Constable Locke and the Conductor (Geoff Schwartz), Mrs. Paroo (Penny Stowe), Winthrop Paroo (John Shaffer), and Amaryllis (Amy Grandlienard).

Special mention should be given to the trainmen, the dancers, the people who worked on lighting and props, and especially the orchestra and parents who sacrificed their teenagers for six weeks!

Isn't LOVE grand!?

The leading CHARACTERS responsible for the show's success.

May Seventeenth is a night to be remembered by all that attended Norwell's first Junior-Senior Prom appropriately titled the "Castle of Dreams." The decorations in The Lantern made the night truly enjoyable.

The waterfall scene served as an excellent background for the prom couple pictures.

Castle Of Dreams

The Coronation was conducted by Junior Presidents Karen Koeneman and Bob Legge.

"Castle of Dreams" is Royal Couple—Queen Judy Borrer and King Steve Huyghe.

A Motto to always remember.

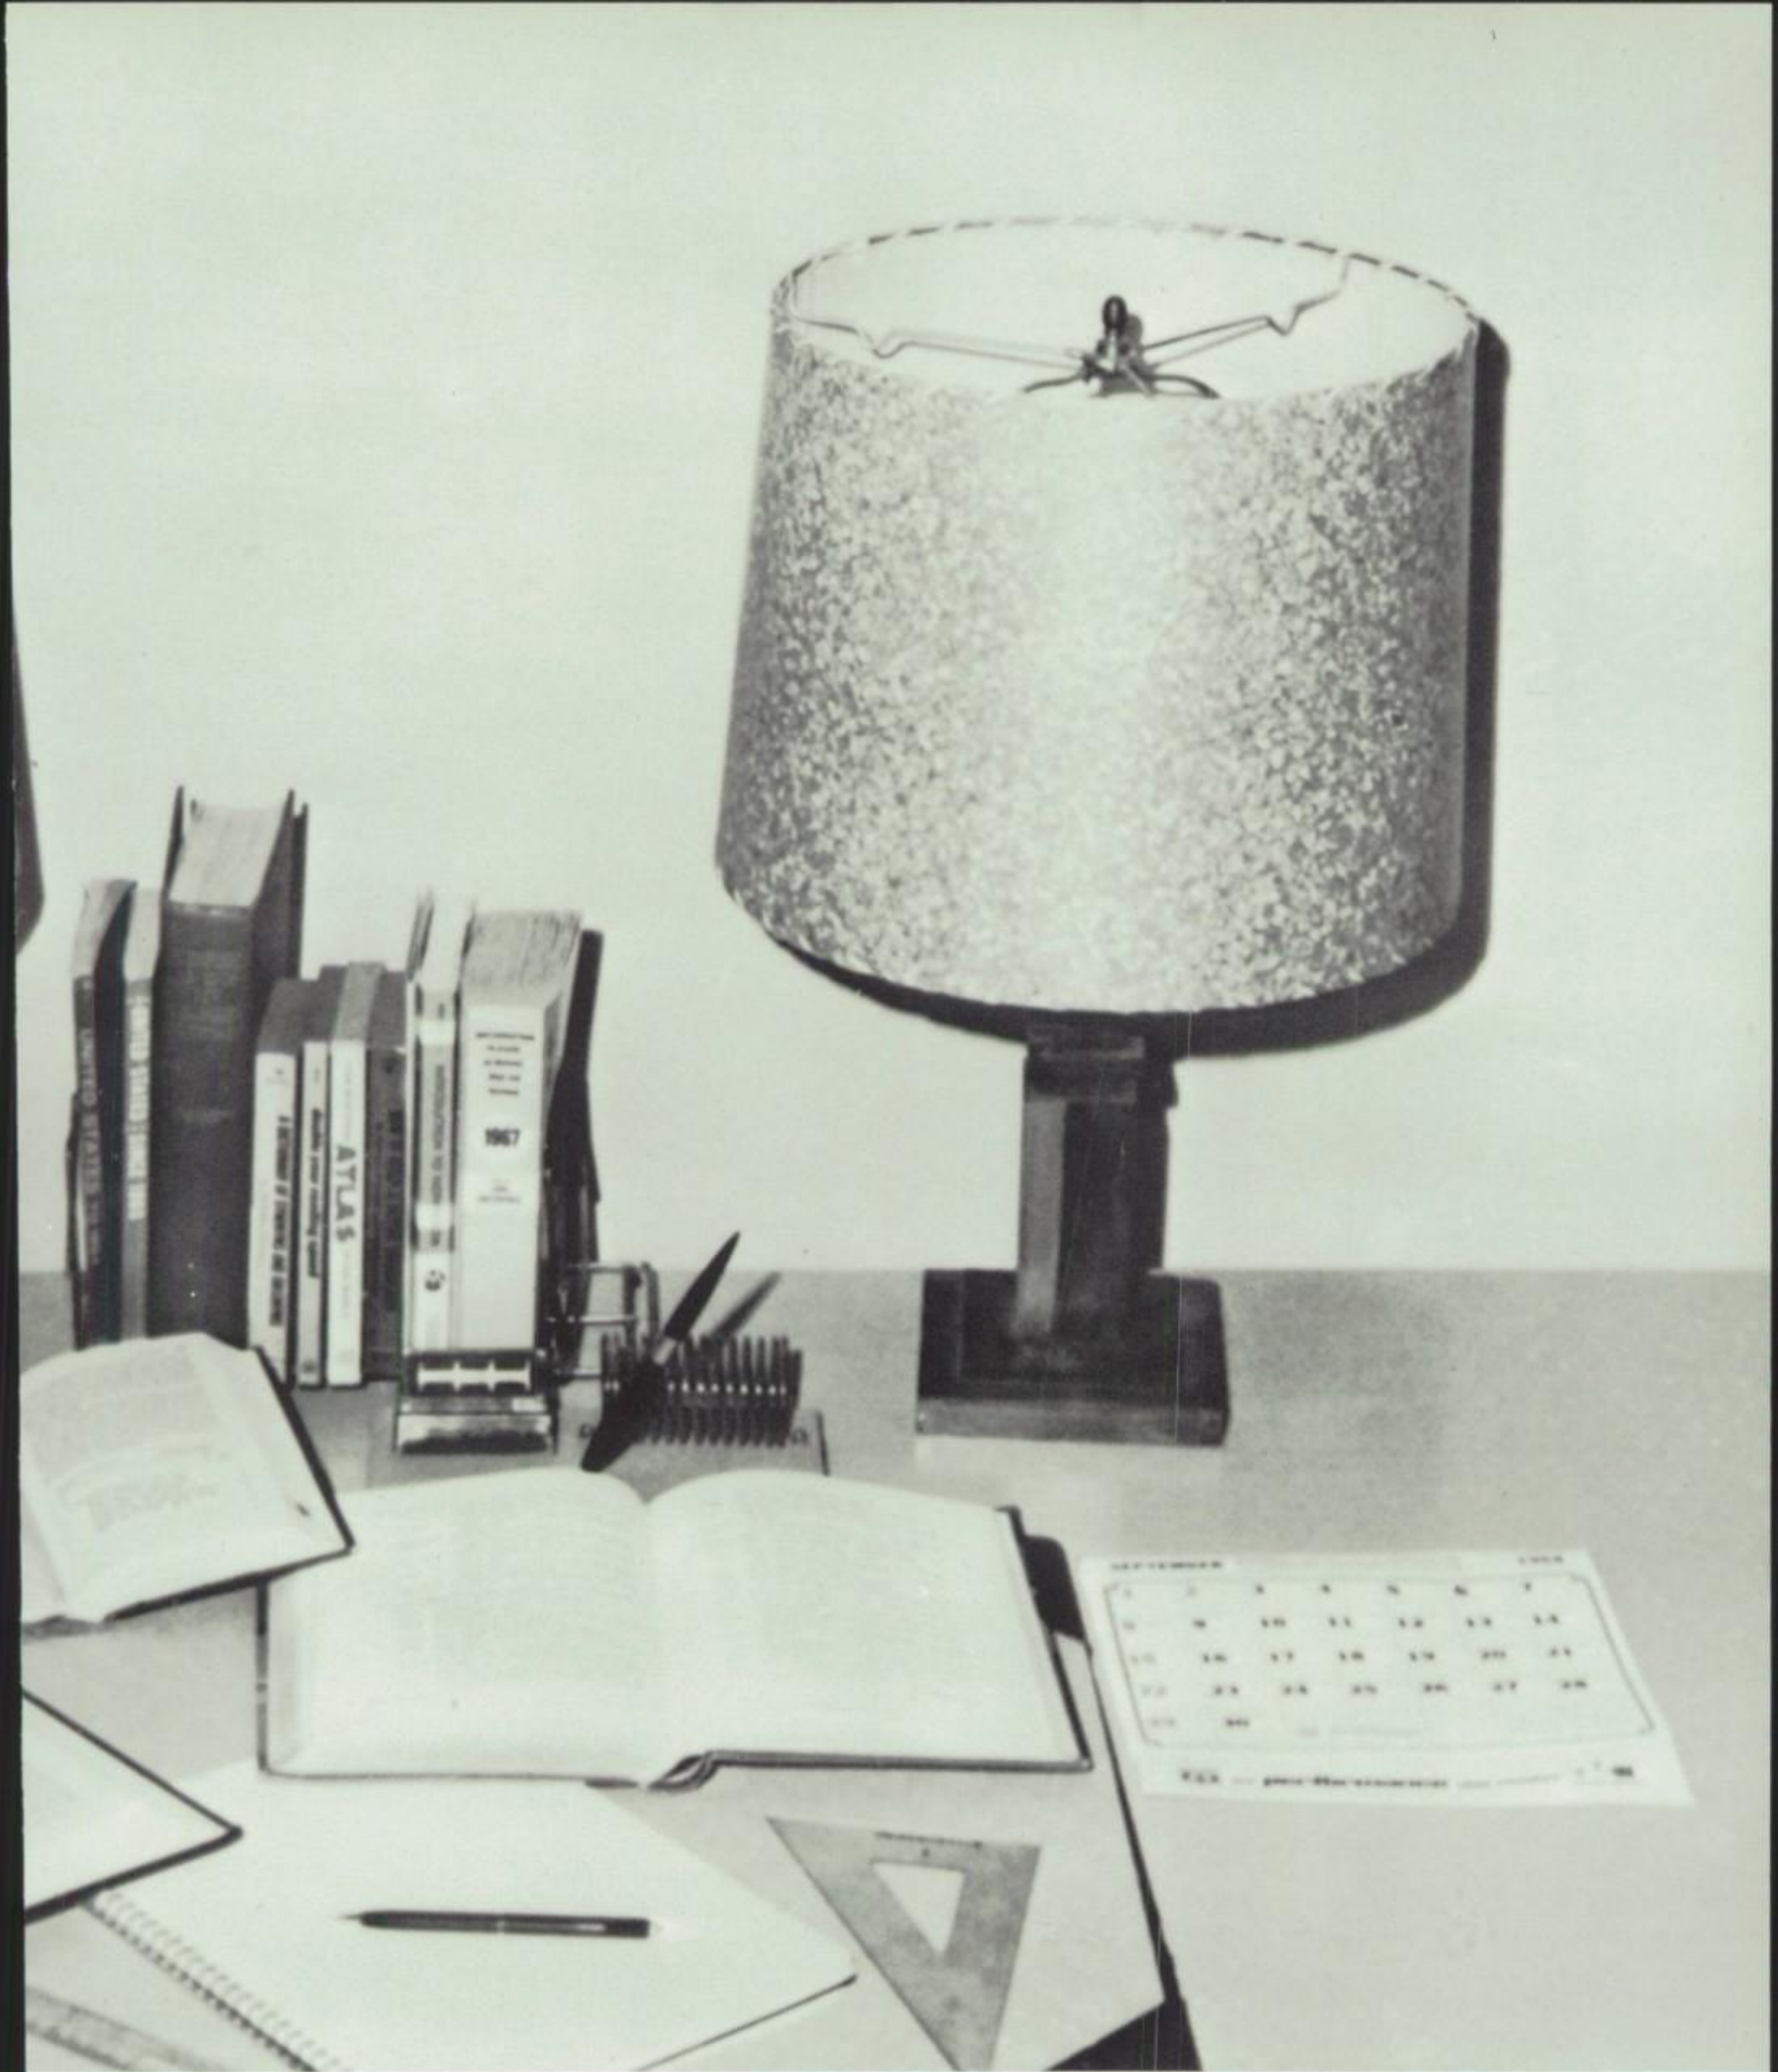

Graduation — May Twenty-First

The stage is set for the seniors' finale.

ACADEMICS

Commercial Courses

Debra, do you always scratch Georgia's back in class?

Shorthand always was a lively class.

No Chris, let Russ expound on that psychological supposition.

Now please, give us the verdict, Judge Foughty.

When in doubt—hunt and peck!!!

Complement Competent Curriculum

Didn't you know—typewriters must be fed promptly on the hour.

We teach our students to be tidy and—orderly!??

An alternative to the basic academic curriculum offered at Norwell is the business and commercial course. Many students find their major field in this area, and the subjects offered are very interesting and essential to business careers. These subjects include typing, shorthand, office practice, bookkeeping, business law, and business math. Most students find themselves involved with at least one of these classes such as the pains-taking, tedious, nerve-racking, finger coordinator, Typing I. The title of general "handy man" goes to the performer of all miscellaneous typing and filing duties of the school, the senior girls' office practice class. Regardless of the particular subject, though, much valuable knowledge and ability needed in the business world will undoubtedly be gained in Norwell's commercial arts classes.

English At Norwell Was Something

Do you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth?

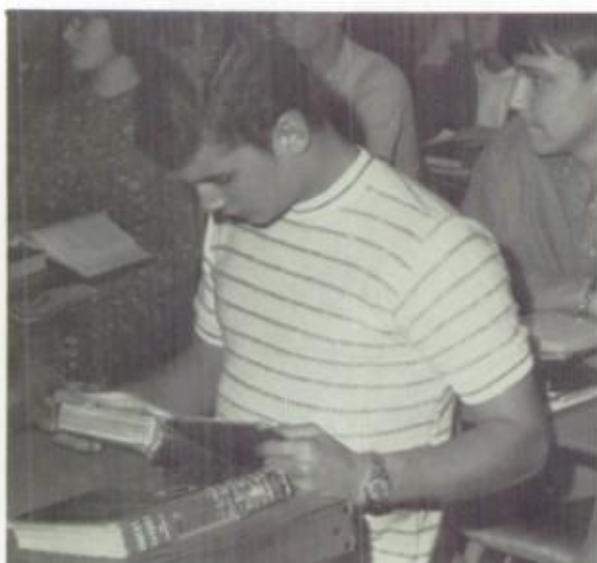

If it were only that easy!!

What's LS/MFT got to do with English?!

Isn't literature exciting, Joe?—Joe!—Joe!!!

As would be expected in any American high school, English is the backbone of Norwell's curriculum. Courses offered in this area include basic English grammar, composition, literature, speech, and journalism. Comprehensive study was assured in all classes as great emphasis was placed upon the mastery of the basic fundamentals of our native language.

More Than "Just Another Subject"

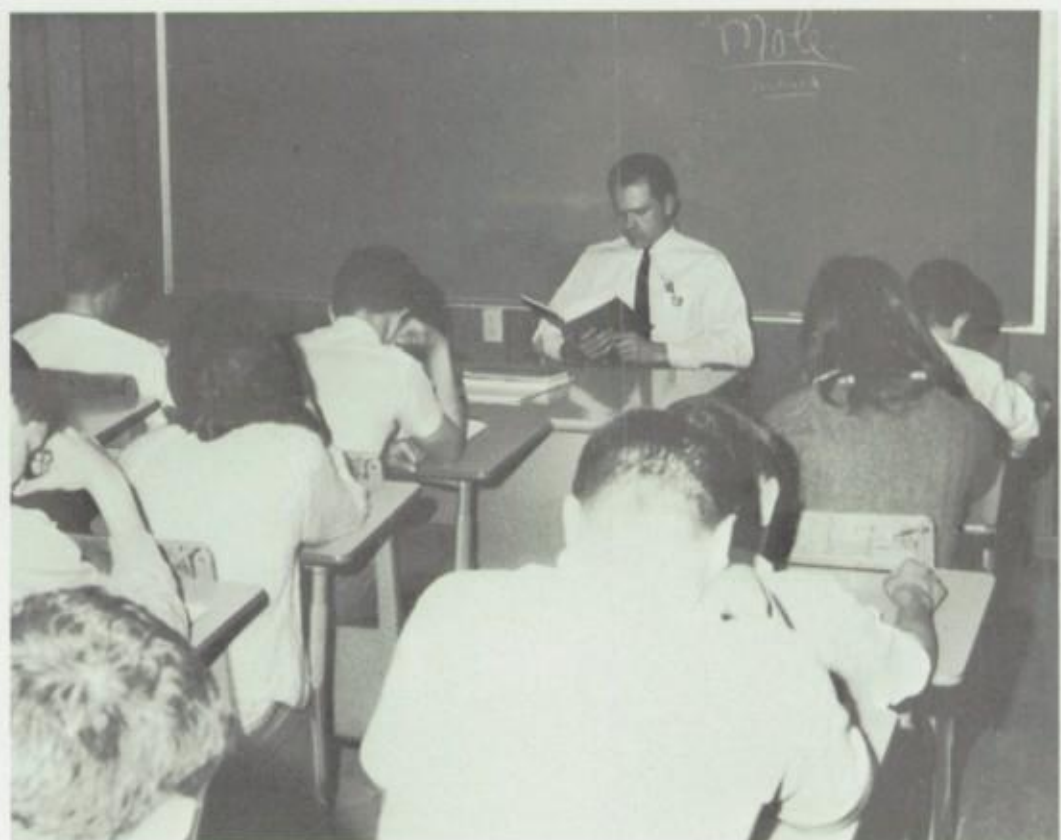

He's got the whole world in his hands!

Don't be so enthusiastic, Kent!

I know!—I know, Miss Biberstine!

Who put the derogatory remark on the board?

Intrigued by Mr. Decker's cryptic remarks . . .

Making eyes is for the opposite sex, Powell.

Social Science Strives For Citizenship

Only babies suck their thumbs Mike!

The area of study that engages the student's mind in thoughts about our country and its relationship with the rest of the world is the Social Science Department. Striving to make each student a better citizen, the history and government courses are taught with the purpose of preparing the student to meet his constitutional responsibilities in a way that will benefit ourselves and our nation.

Foreign Languages Encompass Many World Dialects

This is Senor Don Albo, a Mexican missionary.

French in the Chemistry Room?

To further prepare a student for his life in our ever "shrinking" world, a study of foreign language is becoming a necessity. Accenting the foreign language curriculum at Norwell the past year were Latin, Spanish, and French of which Latin is considered a basic language while Spanish and French are so-called "romance" languages.

Students learn to converse in and write the language while gaining a little knowledge about the country's native lore to further enhance their understanding. A foreign language is not a "soft Touch" or an easy course but it should be attempted by those desiring to gain a more comprehensive view of today's world.

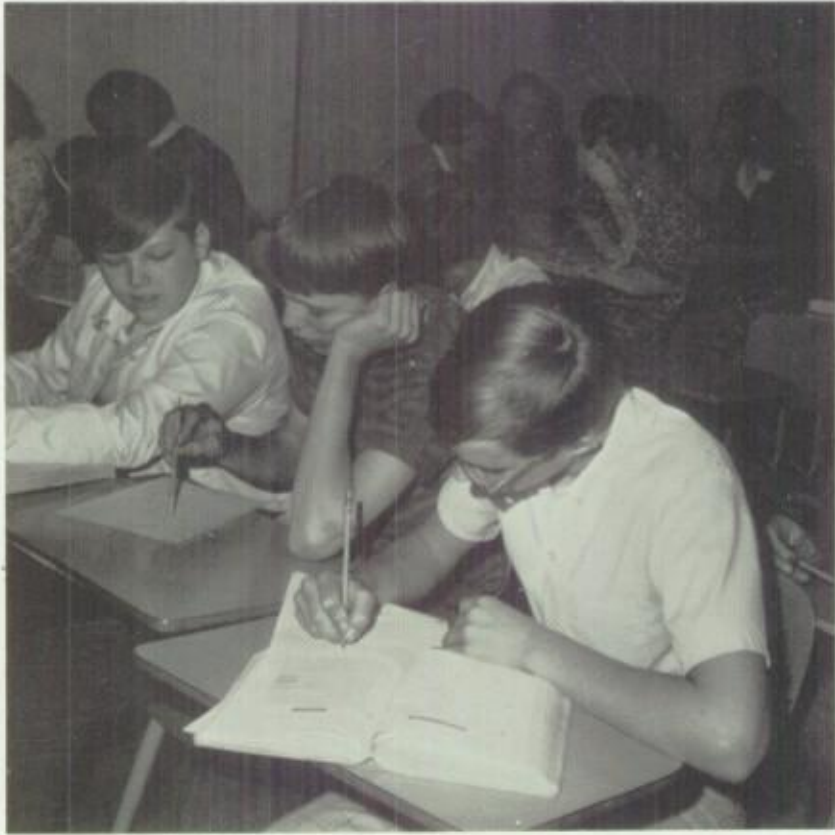

Who's the Spanish idiot with the ball bat?

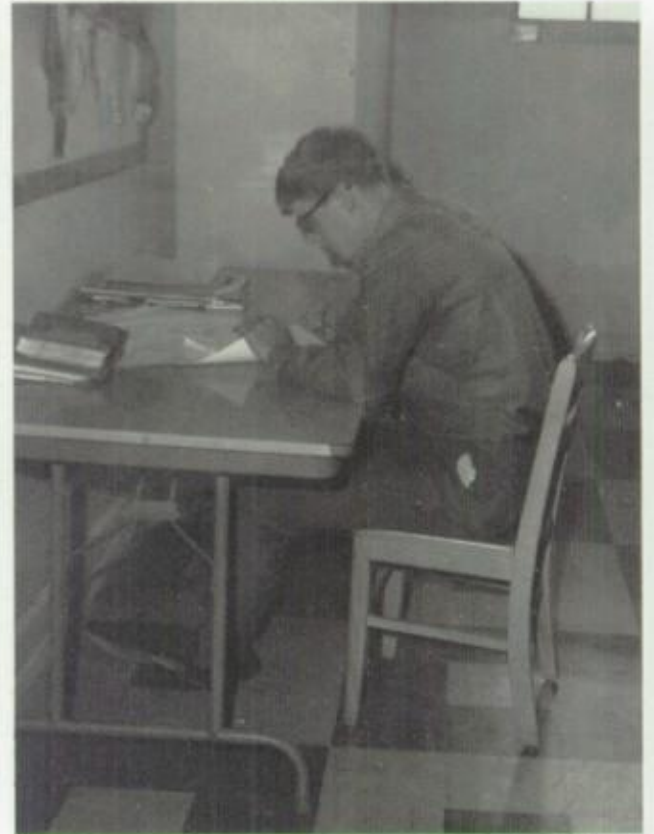

Spanish II, the first class to legalize copying??

Mathematics Magnifies

Don't look now Kim, but someone's borrowing your work.

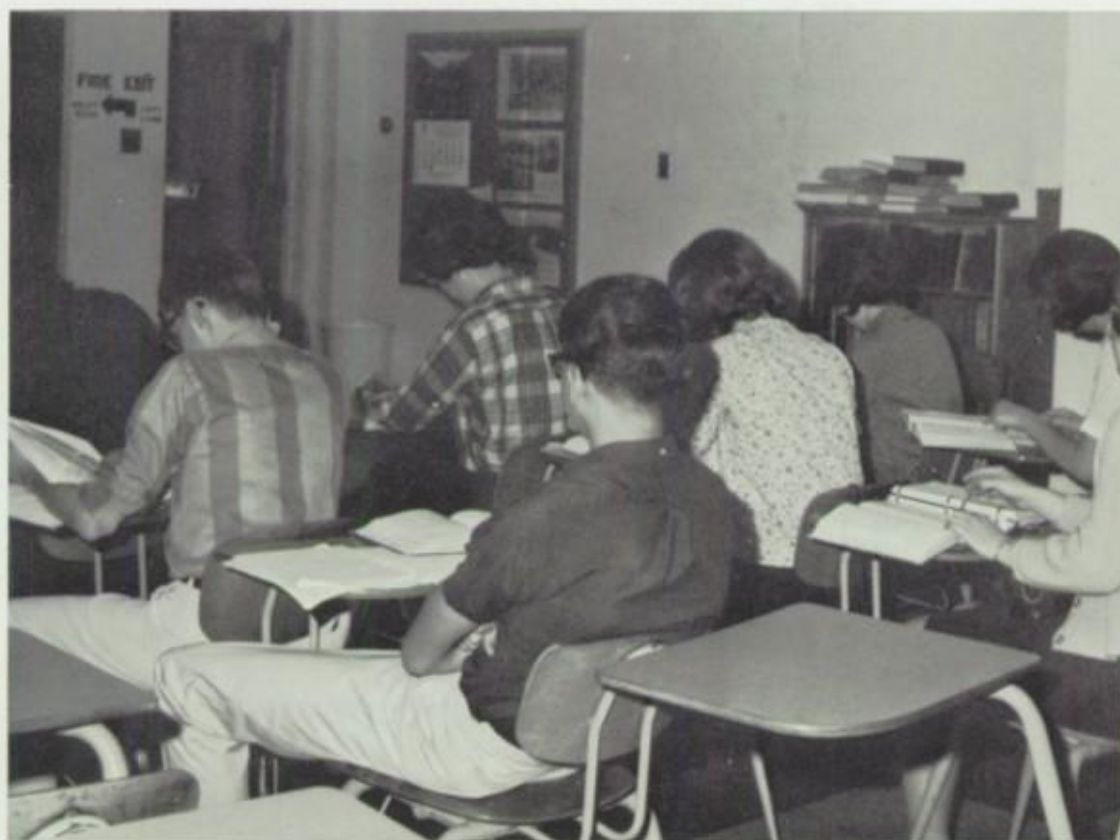

Come now, Rick—you're not actually studying!!

Is this an Algebra class—or a sit in??

Many Magnanimous Minds.

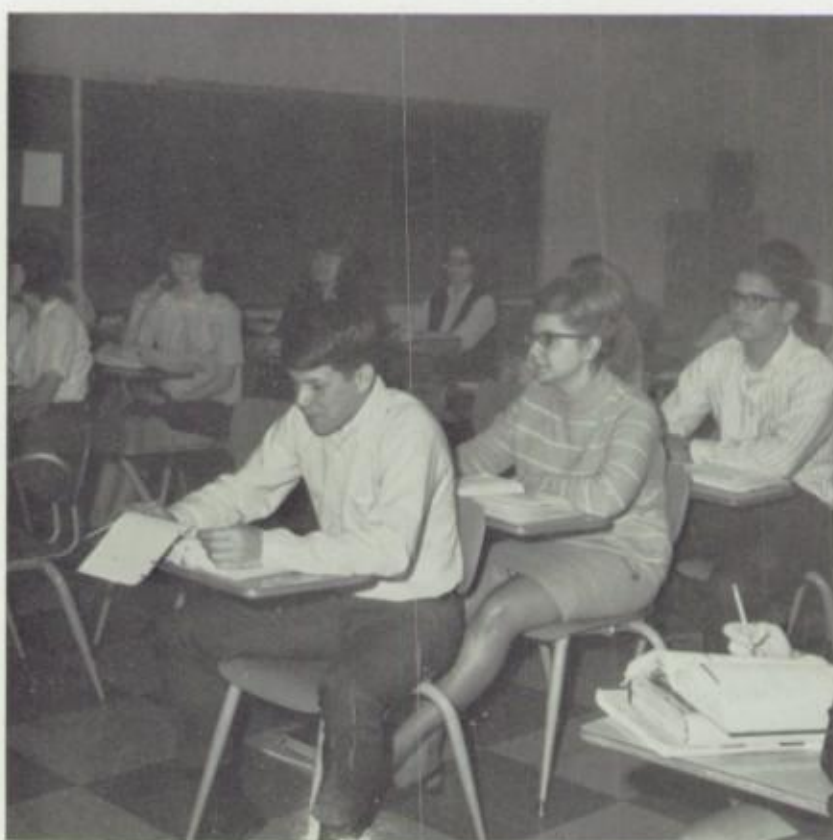

Masterson, get to work!

Try chalk for a change, Mike.
It works much better than your finger!

Mathematics is a phase of Norwell's curriculum which affects every student some time during his high school career. In fact, many students often find themselves taking more than the one required year of math. The business-minded student can take general business and commercial arithmetic, while the more academically oriented student can pursue such courses as algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and analysis. This latter curriculum climaxes at quite a high plateau of knowledge and proves to be most challenging. Thus, mathematics provides an essential link in all student's chain of high school knowledge and better prepares them to meet the challenge of the business and professional world.

What's so amusing about Geometry, Dave?

Mickley's cooling it (but not for long).

I'll bet Sliger won't drink any more Nitric acid.

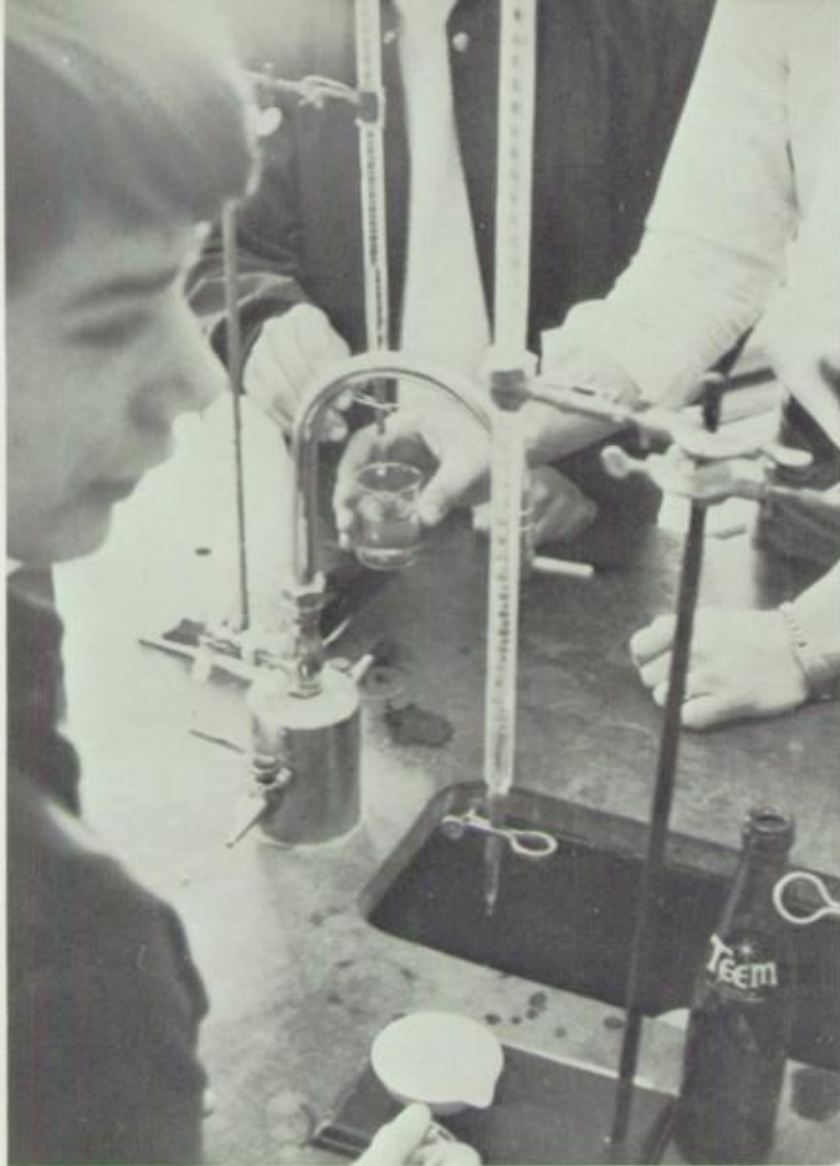

Science Provides An Exciting Field

Insert tab A into slot B.

Hey, is that a hose clamp—or a scissors?

Get the hair out of your eyes, Hogg!

Get the Teem out of the buret, boys!

Of Interest For Many Norwell Students

Many highly theoretical discussions evolved from this Physics class.

A major academic department of the school's curriculum is the Science department. As is evident from these photos, much time is devoted to lab work as well as to classroom study. This affords the students the opportunity to apply scientific theory to practical application.

Science courses are offered progressively throughout the four years of high school and a student can study a wide variety of natural phenomena ranging from the anatomy of an amoeba or frog to computing relative resistance using Ohm's first and second laws. Thus, a broader knowledge in several different science fields, or a deeper study of a particular area, can be gained by Norwell's science-minded students.

Becoming skillful with the machine-age marvels.

Norwell's answer to Betty Crocker!

Don't be so greedy!!

Vocational Arts Adds

I didn't know Home Ec. girls took afternoon naps!

Home economics courses at Norwell afford each student participating the opportunity of becoming a skilled homemaker. Following the idea of practice makes perfect, progressive home economics courses are offered throughout the four years of high school. Several phases of study, varying from health care and personality development, to serving and baking are all taught at some time during the courses. As is evident from the photos on this page, a great percentage of class time is devoted to actual practice and application of home economics principles.

No, Sunshine, it's not a popcorn popper.

Our nation's next great architect.

Increased Opportunity To Norwell's Curriculum

Boys at Norwell who are not greatly intrigued by academic or business courses have the opportunity to major in such fields as agriculture or industrial arts. These vocational-training courses, like home economics, are offered progressively throughout high school, but a student must show particular interest in a certain field before he is eligible to take the subject. With better facilities in the new building, it is hoped that these vocational training courses will be expanded greatly and developed into a more comprehensive program in years to come.

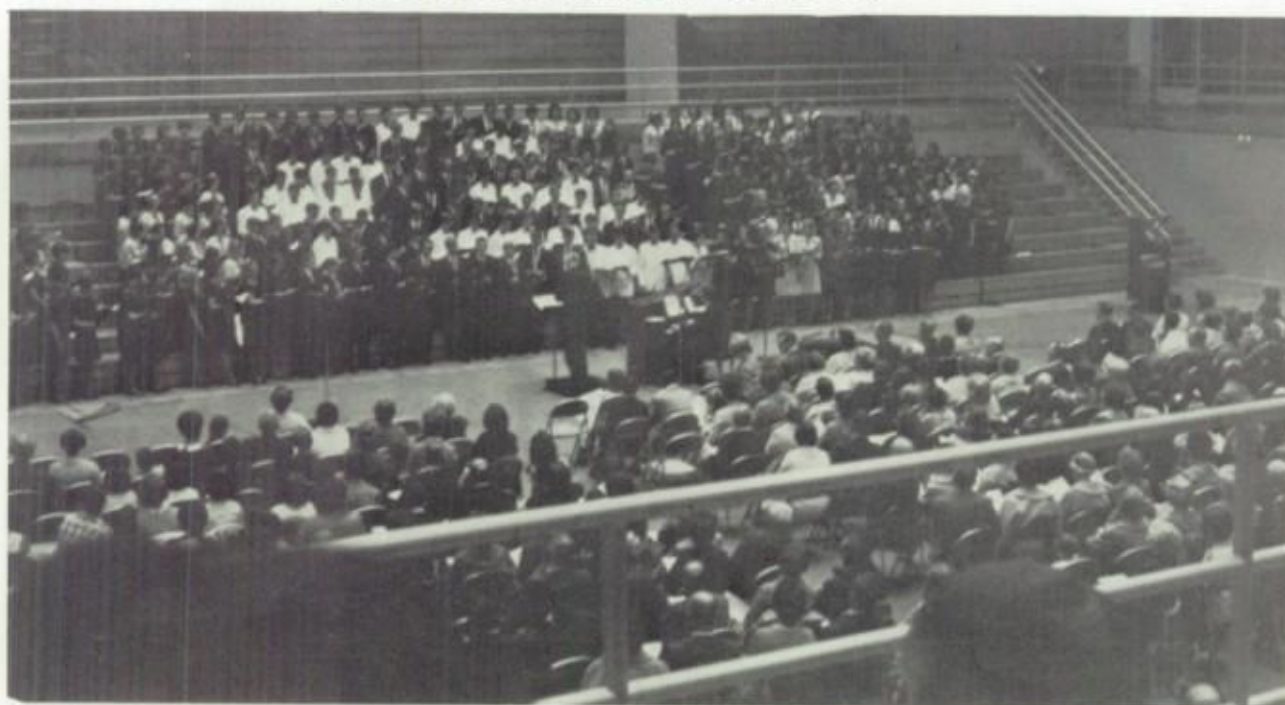

It's not all that bad, Wayne.

They almost seem to be enjoying it!!

Music Department Boasts Fine Vocalists And Instrumentalists

Hours of work were rewarded as vocalists from Norwell and Southern Wells again presented a spectacular Music Festival.

Playing bongos in Chorus?! Well, that's one way of keeping the rhythm!!

The Fall Concert given by the North Campus Concert Choir was considered a fine example of vocalistic talent.

Making up the Music Department at Norwell High are the Vocal and Band Divisions. As the year progressed, many concerts were given successfully and many rewards received for outstanding performances in special contests. The highlight again, however, of the Music Department's many programs was the excellent presentation of "Music Man", in which both divisions played a large part in determining the success of this endeavor.

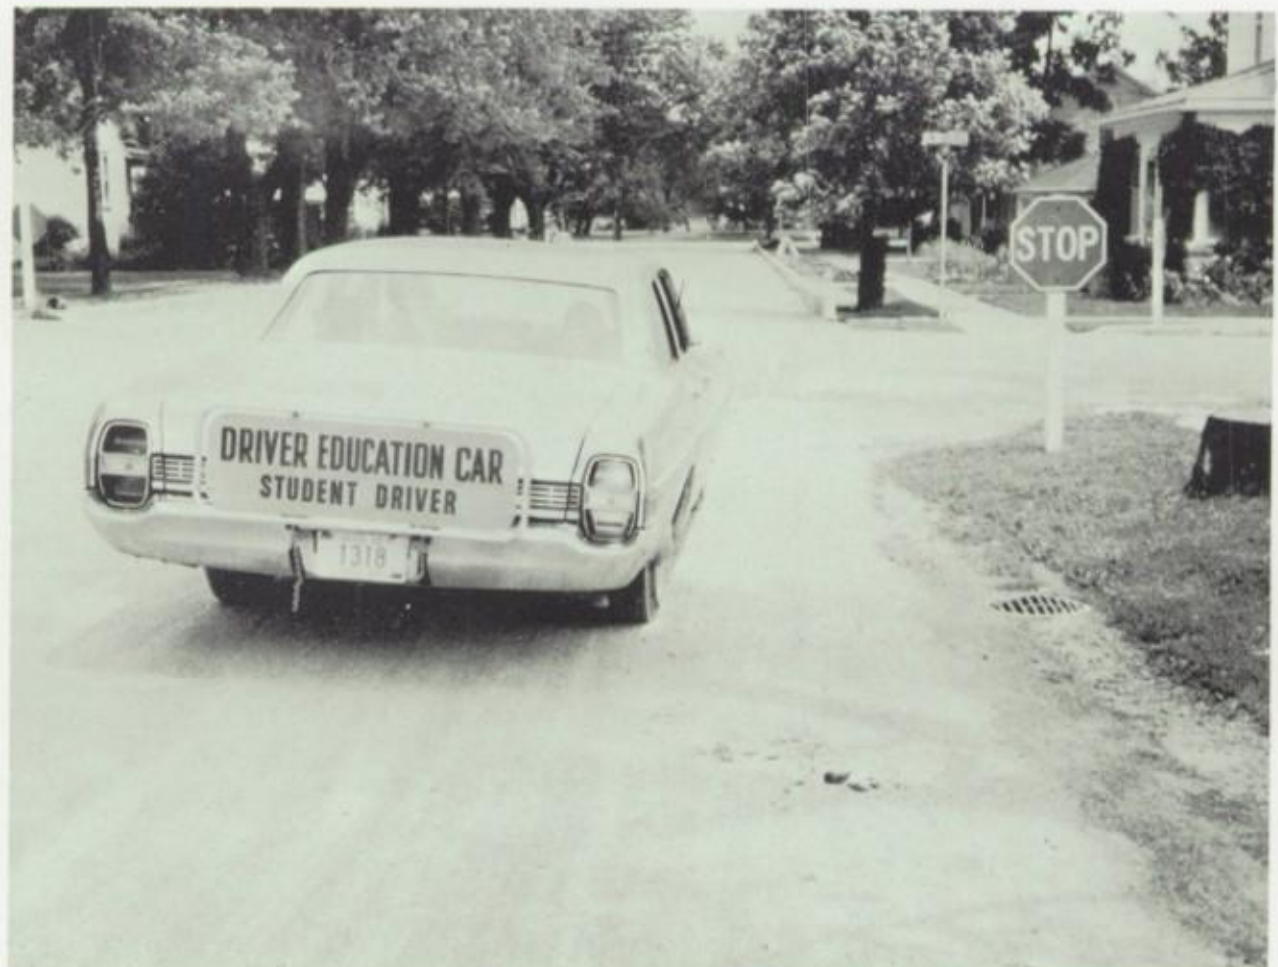

So! That's what they use the wrestling mat for!!

A course greatly anticipated by both boys and girls is physical education. Both freshmen and sophomores are required to take this class. In accordance with the nation's physical fitness program, it is felt that a sound body is of as great importance as an intelligent mind. It is hoped that through these strenuous exercises and training the students will later take the personal initiative to remain physically fit.

Students Anticipate Phys. Ed. And Drivers' Ed.

Nice scenery, isn't it!!!

Being a good driver is one of the responsibilities of adulthood. In accordance with this Norwell offers an extensive drivers' education program which prepares students to meet this challenge adequately. Because of the demand for and the time required to meet the state standards, both summer and winter instruction is available. Since statistics prove that educated drivers are safer drivers, this course is a great asset to Norwell's curriculum.

Library, Art, Guidance . . . Important

Ladies' aid meetings are NOT to be held in the library!

Is it true that dirt can't hide from intensified Tide?!

Good posture also helps in Art, Connie!

Areas Of Norwell's Curriculum

Since when do students write letters to Mom in Art class?!

Were these done by future Rembrandt's?

Two departments of the school that are used by all are guidance and the library. The guidance division is becoming more and more important as students are being assisted in their decisions as to the future by trained counselors who know their business. The library can be a big help to those who know how to use it and it is further improving each year by the addition of new materials.

A department that is seen but not heard is the art department. The art students learn different forms and techniques of drawing which is evidenced throughout the year by displays on the walls of the artroom.

Looking into the academic future via the guidance department's crystal ball.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Knight Life Made Its Debut As

These jolly journalists created our school newspaper?!!

Wind her up and watch her go!!

Is the hat too big or

Doug?

Norwell's First Bi-Monthly Publication

They actually published a successful newspaper?!!

Rollyn finally mastered the art of folding a newspaper.

Among the goals of the new Norwell High School was the formation of a school newspaper. This aspiration was famously achieved with the creation of the "Knight Life". The South Campus staff, under the direction of Frank Garton, gave birth to this publication and founded its reputation as an accurate news source during the first semester. For the remainder of the year, the North Campus journalists were entrusted with the responsibility of keeping the "Knight Life" a clean-cut, up-to-the-minute, news release. This they did in fine fashion, as a total of 15 issues were published during the year, including a special 8-page final edition devoted to the Seniors. Much rewarding experience in the journalism field was gained by all members of these hard working staffs.

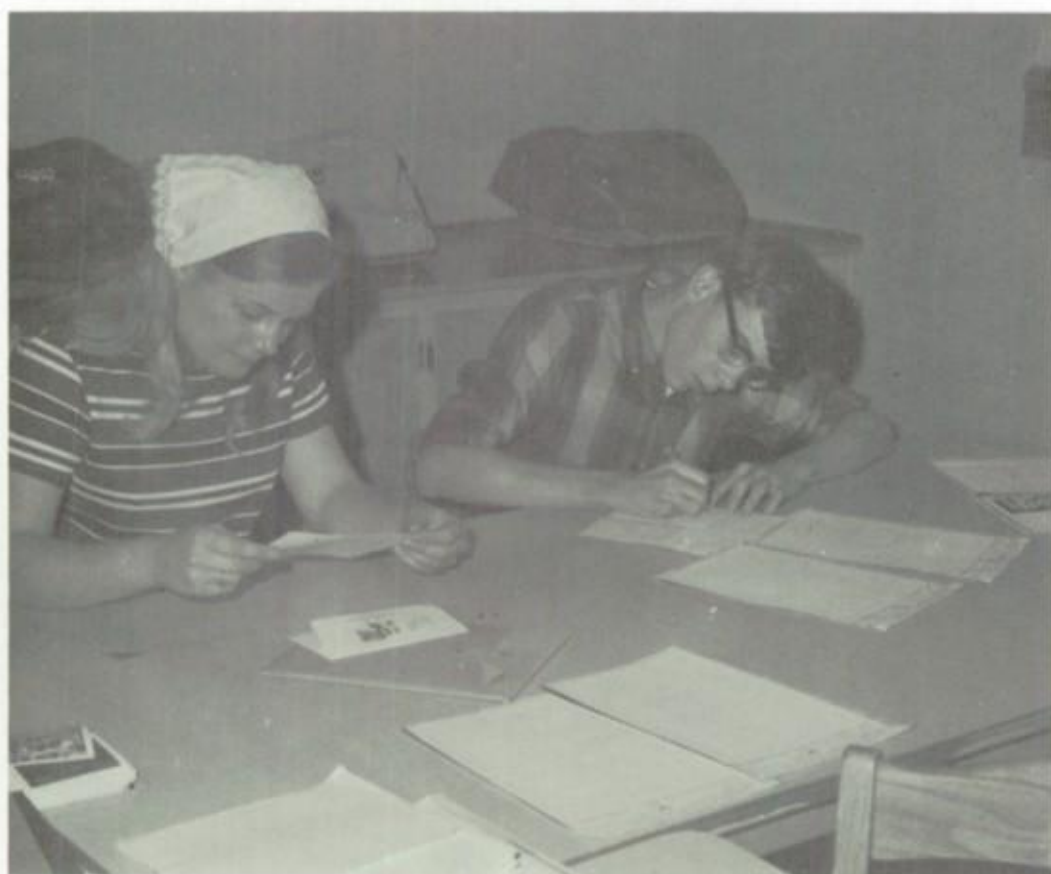

Droege, you'll never understand!

Accolade Staff Combines New Ideas In Forging Knight's 1st Annual

These "perfect" people are responsible for all unsightly errors in the Accolade, Volume I.

Dale can really fake concentration on copy!

The consolidation of several schools necessitates the formation of several totally new organizations, activities, and publications. The Accolade, Norwell's first annual, is an excellent example of original Knight ingenuity. The staff devoted many arduous hours throughout the year to the task of compiling a yearbook which would adequately display the honors achieved and also show typical Norwell school life. Under the supervision of Charles Fullhart and the direction of Co-editors, Cheryl Cargar and Wayne Kaltwasser, the staff soon discovered that deadlines were hard to meet. The annual staff sincerely hopes that the 1st volume of the Accolade is indeed one to be proud of.

Marching Musicians Marvel Many Multitudes

The highlights of all parades are the bands, but the Norwell Marching Band must take distinction as a band among bands. While lacking uniforms at the beginning of the year, the musicians still outranked most of the other bands and finished high in the standings at contests in which they competed. Now, with the new uniforms they purchased, No. 1 should be a constantly sought for goal.

Hey, Mike, don't look so happy when you're marching!!

To entertain at ball games and other social events in the area a combination pep band and stage band was organized. Though encountering problems in finding time to practice, the band still entertained admirably at all performances and received pleasing remarks from all.

Norwell's Concert Band truly distinguished itself

To further develop a student's ability to perform different types and styles of instrumental music, the marching band is transformed into a concert band. The concert music ranges from classical opera and contemporary overtures to pop tunes, all of which challenge the student's musical talents. The basic task of the band department is to provide the students with the realization that there is more to music than just blowing air into a horn. Our concert band makes this realization possible for each student who will take the time to listen and learn.

A good looking group of twirlers is vital to a band's total appearance and performances and our twirlers do an admirable job of fulfilling this important role. They engineer their own routines for ball games and parades and maintain a high standard of marching prowess. These girls really do provide a glamorous forefront for our marching band.

Leading a group of twirlers and providing a one-girl show for an entire parade is a tough job but it was brilliantly filled this past year by Mary Lou Hiday. Mary Lou maintained the audience's attention amazingly well by displaying her tremendous twirling talent which would be a great asset to any band.

The Norwell Pep Club tried something new this year, a card section. They would spell various letters and short words preceding the home Varsity games. Here they are welcoming the visiting team.

Preparing football cheers was a new experience for the Varsity Cheerleaders. They are from top to bottom: Linda Yager, Debra Gensic, Beth Grandlienard, Becky Shady, and Judy Borrer.

Keeping time; right in line!

Linda, Beth, Judy, Becky, and Debra say, "Victory Tonight—Right!"

As everyone knows, a Pep Club and Cheerleaders are a "must" in "Hoosier Hysteria"; and Norwell is no exception. By attending the Smith-Walbridge Camp and practicing several nights a week, the Varsity and J.V.'s prepared new cheers and chants to propel our Knights on to Victory!

The Pep Club, 139-strong, aptly displayed Norwell's SPIRIT this year in every game. The members unselfishly gave up two nights every month to devote their efforts in preparing for the forthcoming onslaught of the Knight's next foe.

True co-operation between the Cheerleaders and Pep Club helped to make this aspect of 1968 a genuine SUCCESS!

Ladies and Gentlemen—The Norwell Knights!

Let's Hear It

SPIRIT is the one thing a good Pep Club needs; and our Pep Club had just that—SPIRIT!

The North Campus Concert Choir, under the direction of Miss West, has again given many outstanding performances this year. Included in these programs were a Spring and Fall Concert.

The choral departments were accentuated this year by two dynamic performances; those being the Wells County Music Festival and the outstanding production of "Music Man".

Once again the Music Festival was a grand success with choirs from Norwell and Southern Wells taking part. Norwell was especially honored by having four students participate in special numbers. Cheryl Cargar, Becky Gerber, and Debra Gensic were a featured A cappella trio and Tom Barr displayed his talent on the String Bass. The event was enjoyed by all and enhanced by the excellent direction of Varner Chance and the splendid accompaniment of Dean DeVoe.

But the highlight of the year was the presentation of Meredith Willson's "Music Man". Under the direction of Mr. Gary Link, assisted by Miss Dorothea Sellers and Miss Dorothy West, the musical was brought to life in the South Campus gymnasium. The many hours devoted to rehearsals proved to be a worthwhile sacrifice as the production was a smashing success! the entire musical department once again stupendously displayed Norwell talent.

The Mixed Sextet was among Norwell's State Contest winners this year. Those composing this ensemble are Connie Bennett, Steve Yager, Sally Barr, Cindy Watson, Greg Wickliffe, and Marie Dettmer.

A new idea was revealed this year in the South Campus Choir, that of student directors. Georgia Brown, Becky Mann, Becky Shady, and Gary Blew directed several selected songs in the Choir's annual Sacred Spring Concerts.

Sunshine Society Lends Helping Hand To Community

An active Sunshine club was formulated at each campus this year in order to instill in the student a sense of community responsibility. Many service projects were performed by both clubs throughout the school year, some of which were quite unique. Examples include; serving breakfasts for the teachers and senior girls on different occasions, and providing a party for some of the children at the Fort Wayne State School. But theirs was not all work as their projects also included two semi-formal dances. Membership in this club offers any girl the opportunity of rewarding and useful extra-curricular activity.

The Norwell Hi-Y club, under the guidance of Jim Dilbone, was formed in the fall of 1967 and soon developed into an active and beneficial organization. Based on the pledge of maintaining high Christian standards throughout the community, the club devoted its efforts to many service projects during the year. Also, interesting programs were presented at the bi-monthly meetings, the last of which was the banquet and installation of new officers. The Hi-Y project was the presentation of "Oscar the Knight" to the school and student body. It is hoped that this school emblem will become the local point for school spirit in future years.

Glamorous Gambollers Comprise Norwell GAA

To gambol means to frolic or leap in joy but these GAA beauties did much more than have fun this year. They competed with other schools in basketball and participated in many volleyball tournaments including the ACAC where they progressed to the finals before losing to the eventual winner, Hometown. These gorgeous gals should be commended for their abilities and their desire to prove that girls at Norwell should be feared in competition as well as the boys.

Artistic Artisans Make Norwell Debut

An art club was formed at Norwell this year and its members promptly dubbed themselves, the Artisans. Although its membership was somewhat limited this year, it is hoped that in future years, as the art department grows, the Artisans will become of greater importance and service to the school.

Student Council Participates In School Government

To voice and represent the students' opinions concerning school policy to members of the administration, a boy and a girl from each class are elected to serve on the Student Council. If a student has a new idea or a problem that bears significance, he may pursue the thoughts with his Council representative who will then convey the idea to the other council members and the administration. The Council also sponsors dances with the money received being used for student aids. Another project is the March of Dimes campaign which helps in the fight against birth defects.

The Student Council can be a vital cog in the school's machinery if each student will do his role in selecting the proper people that will take charge of student affairs and see that they are continually progressing.

The Norwell Thespian Club was somewhat limited in its theatrical presentations during the school year. Because of the absence of class plays, the only members inducted during the year were Mike Masterson, Georgia Brown, and Joe Gensic for their performances in "Music Man".

The club's only major production of the year was a Christmas play entitled "The Guardian" (right photo). A moving and beautiful dramatic work, it was presented at both campuses and aptly portrayed the nativity and brought out the true meaning of Christmas.

It is hoped that the Thespian Club will be of greater service in the new building, as greater emphasis will be placed on the total dramatics department.

The club that is growing faster and is building more interest than any other club in the school is the bowling club. At the beginning of the year the members are organized into four-man teams that compete with each other throughout the year. The competition becomes fierce as the season progresses and in a very close race this year Charlie Brown's Allstars (Donna Hill, Jan Grandlienard, Linda Graham, Barb Hogg) won the championship. Ron Gehring won the local YBA tournament and went on to the State tournament at Indianapolis where he competed with bowlers throughout the state. He was fortunate enough to win this and went on to compete at the Nationals in Washington, D.C. This was the first time that Wells County has been represented in the Nationals and we are proud to say that he came from Norwell.

Norwell tears a hole in the defense.

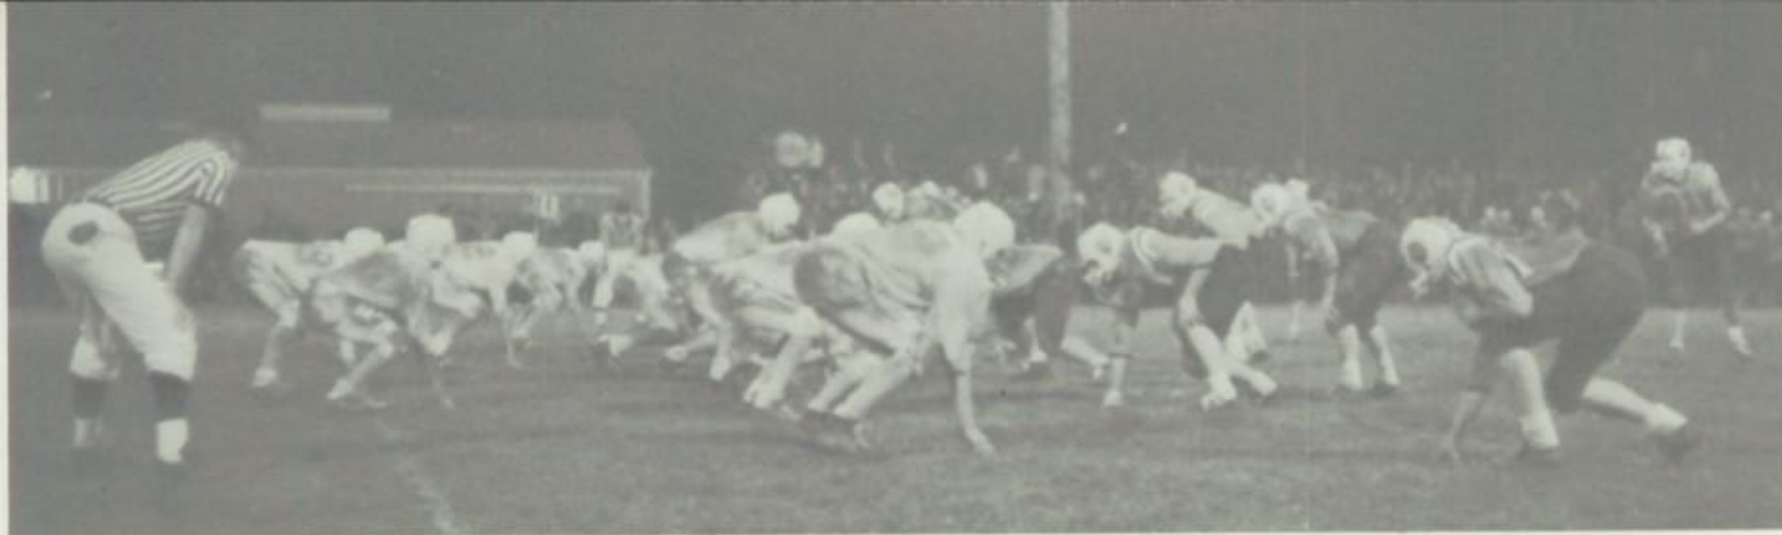

Mr. Dilbone discusses our strategy in the next game.

The boys who played football found a new and exciting sport which they never before had an opportunity to participate in as a High School sport. Under the guidance of coaches Dilbone, Sullivan, and Rose, these boys were conditioned into football players. Their record of games showed them to be the best of teams with one or two years experience. Even the more veteran teams found Norwell to be a formidable opponent.

1967 FOOTBALL TEAM: TOP ROW: Coaches R. Sullivan and M. Rose, R. Teeple, B. Lowe, M. Bowman, B. Neuman, D. Rice, M. Todd, K. Roberts, G. Schaefer, J. Wilson; D. Johnson (mgr.), Head Coach J. The task of establishing the guidelines of a school and ensuring a proper atmosphere conducive to study falls upon the school administration. It is imperative that this link in the chain of school organization be strong and steadfast if superior educational opportunity is to be afforded. The attitude of the student body and their respect and pride in the school is largely dependent upon their faith in the abilities of the school administration. Throughout the year, it was generally felt that Norwell's administration met these challenges superbly and that the students were proud to be under such expert guidance.

These People Prepare The

North Campus' Chef's Delight—
Judith Schindler, Virginia Quackenbush, Delores King, Ruthell
Andrews, Margaret Willett, Lelia Schorey, and Joyce Hissem.

BARBARA HANAUER—
Our School Nurse

South Campus cooks served midday culinary treats, also. They are: Delene Kleinknight, Marjorie Myers,
Betty Glasgow, Marcella Yergler, Helen Gehring,
Mildred Gerber, and Vera Wolf.

Why, Pete—How dare you break into our school!—
and to think—Chuck is your accomplice!!

The efficient functioning of a school corporation necessitates many "behind the scenes" and oft-times obscure workers. If the proper school routine is to be kept, these people must faithfully and promptly complete their daily tasks. These vital personnel include the cooks, janitors, bus drivers, and medical staff. Norwell is proud of each of these people and the work that he does.

Way For Class Each Day

Hey, did you guys punch out before you posed?!

Although pictures are not available, mention should also be given to the bus drivers at Rockcreek and Union. They are:

ROCKCREEK

Wendell Hogg
Dennis Houtz
Glen Houtz
Jay Smith
Wayne Welches
Arnold Yager

UNION

Rex Boxell
Clark DeWalt
Bill Fisher
Keith Haiflich
Elmer Johnson
Ferd Johnson
Richard Thomas

Will someone please get Chuck's attention before we take this picture?

These North Campus chauffeurs twice daily make their appointed rounds.
